A REIGN OF TERROR IN LODZ, POLAND

Scores are Killed and Hundreds Shot and Assaulted.

Business at a Standstill, Troops are Assaulted and Martial Law is Declared.

OVER 200 CASUALTIES.

Warsaw, June 24.—The casualties at Lodz up to 3 o'clock add 33 deaths to the 171 killed yesterday.

The rioting today spread to Czestochau, Poland, and twenty-three were killed and eighty-five were wounded there.

The massacre at Lodz yesterday was worse than the Sunday at St. Petersburg.

Warsaw, June 24.—The reign of terror which has turned Lodz into a slaughter pen in the conflict between troops and working people continues.

Reports today show that a veritable pitched battle is being fought in the streets.

A call was sent the governor-general here for assistance and three regiments of infantry and cavalry were dispatched on a special train for Lodz.

A NEW FIRM

MR. GEORGE ROCK SELLS AN INTEREST IN SHOE STORE.

Mr. Edward Bringhurst and Mr. David Koger are the Purchasers of Interests.

Mr. George Rock has sold his retail shoe store to Mr. Edward Bringhurst and Mr. David Koger, who will assume charge the first of August. Mr. Rock will retain an interest in the business and the new firm will be the George Rock Shoe Company.

Mr. Rock has been in business in Paducah over 46 years and has been very successful, being rated as one of the wealthiest of Paducah's business men, and in selling his business he is only fulfilling a desire to retire from active business.

Mr. Bringhurst and Mr. Koger are two very popular young men, and connected with some of the most prominent families in the city. Mr. Bringhurst is a nephew of Mr. B. H. Scott, and Mr. Koger the son of Captain Jas. A. Koger. Mr. Bringhurst is a young man of proven business ability and Mr. Koger is just out of school where he stood high. The new firm has every prospect of success.

Shows Earlier Than Usual.
At present plans do not miscarry, the theater will open here this year earlier than ever known before. Manager Thomas Roberts will in a few days in all probability book either the Richards & Pringles or the Billy Kersands negro minstrel for the Kentucky to play to colored people only on August 8, the great colored holiday in this part of the country. Another early show may be the melodrama of Lord Baltimore, for August 21.

Barricades have been erected at many points. Rifle volleys and revolver shots are heard continually. Many persons have been killed or wounded but it is impossible at present to ascertain the number with any exactitude, owing to the general character of disturbances.

A mob sacked a number of liquor stores and broke street lamps. Street railroad traffic is interrupted.

Martial Law Declared.

Lodz, Russian Poland, June 24.—Troops have stormed barricades erected in the streets by strikers. Fifty persons were killed, 290 wounded. Martial law is declared.

HOSPITAL BOARD

WILL MEET NEXT WEEK TO ELECT OFFICERS.

Everything is About Ready for the Opening of the Building.

It is understood that the River-side hospital board will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of electing officers for the hospital management, which will have to be done with the opening of the institution.

The furniture and equipment for the new hospital is all here and is being set up. The board expects to have the hospital ready for opening by July 1, and it will be placed in service immediately thereafter. That is, this seems to be the intention of the board members.

The old hospital will be closed as soon as the new one is ready for service, and with the closing Mrs. Sarah Birchett's position as matron will be abolished, the rules of the new hospital establishing a different corps of officers.

The board will have many applications to consider in the election, and the duty will be one requiring the greatest of care, especially in selecting the superintendent to have direct charge of the institution.

Shot a Flagman.

Nortonville, Ky., June 24.—An unknown negro shot and fatally wounded the flagman on an Illinois Central freight train at Daniel Boone yesterday. Marshall Roy Blanks afterward shot and captured the negro at St. Charles.

The name of the flagman could not be learned.

Former Cairoite in Wreck.

E. E. Nauel one of the men killed in the Mentor wreck, was formerly a resident of Cairo, Ill., but lived at Chicago at the time of his death. There was only a suspender button left by which he could be identified, as his body was cremated.

THE STATE BAR

Elects Officers and Adjourns at Covington.

Covington, Ky., June 24.—The State Bar Association last night elected these officers and adjourned:

President, E. H. Thornton, Versailles.

Vice-Presidents, J. E. Robbins, May-

field, Jas. W. Clay, Henderson,

Assaulted by Unknown Negro.

Parrish Jones, white, was struck by a darkey in the warehouse district

last night while asleep on a wagon and badly injured on the right cheek.

He was asleep on a wagon when a negro came by and demanded that he get off. Jones replied that he intended sleeping and the negro struck him with some kind of instrument, inflicting a deep gash on the right cheek. Jones was not found by the police until this afternoon, when he was discovered lying under a shed near Second and Jefferson streets.

He is not thought to be seriously hurt.

Mayor Yeiser said charges could be preferred now and the board of aldeermen investigate the case, but that he would wait until the investigation is held by the courts, and then prefer charges if there is anything to justify them.

This morning at the instance of

Chief of Police James Collins, Police

Judge D. L. Sanders issued a breach of the peace warrant against the city jailer and officer. They will be given a hearing Monday morning in police court.

The case has aroused a great deal of interest. Chief Collins stated this afternoon that he could not obtain any positive facts about Sam Evitts,

a brother of Jailer Evitts, being implicated. He stated that some claim

Officer Beadles struck Jailer Evitts

first, while others claim the opposite.

A beer wagon driver is also said to be mixed up in the affair, but he claims all he did was simply to intervene to prevent further fighting.

City Jailer Evitts has a badly broken finger on the right hand sustained in the difficulty.

The Nashville "booster," who were in the city yesterday were pleased with the possibility of such good streets in Paducah. There are few cities in the country that have such straight, level streets as Paducah.

There is not a single hill or slope of consequence in the entire city. The Nashville men also said that Paducah would make no mistake in using the bituminous material, which Nashville is using almost exclusively.

league. These pitchers were suspended by President Grillo a week ago for violations of rules, but had been reinstated on promise to be good. Peck Butler, formerly with the Kitty, and late with Memphis, who started out with Toledo, is also playing independent ball on account of a split with former Manager Finn of Toledo. Butler's home is in Jackson, Tenn., but he is playing with various teams in this vicinity. Cannitz pitched for the Pittsburgh Nationals against Paducah the latter part of last season.

It is announced by President Kavanaugh that Umpire Frank H. Bassett has resigned, and that he has appointed "Red" Ehret, the veteran pitcher, as Bassett's successor. The reason given by Bassett for resigning is the ill health of his wife, whom he will take to California. Bassett has been working at Little Rock.

The Hopkinsville New Era says that Eddie Koli proposes to organize Owensboro and bring the town into the league next year. The addition of Owensboro to the league would strengthen the Kitty.

Catcher Schissel has persuaded to remain with the team until July 1. He has wanted to return to his home in Indianapolis for the past few days, owing to illness in his family, but consented to remain until another could be secured and the crippled players were able to return to the game.—Henderson Gleaner.

Umpire Schuster, formerly in the K. I. T. league, is badly battered up and Right Fielder Randall and Second Baseman Perrine of the Denver Western league team are out on $100 bail for assaulting Schuster in the game in which Denver and Sioux City were fighting for first place. With the score 20 to 1 for the home team in the seventh, Randall was called out at second. He and Perrine, who was coaching, called Schuster foul names and were ordered off the grounds. The Denver players closed in and the game was forfeited to Sioux City. Then Randall smashed Schuster in the eye, dazzling him, and Perrine slugged him in the back of the head, knocking him down. A riot ensued, which took Chief Dineen and six policemen with fifty cool-headed fans to quell. Sioux City players rescued Schuster, and but for quick police interference the Denverites would have mobbed him. The players were fined $10.

Clyde Goodwin, the former Vincennes twirler, has been traded by Indianapolis to Milwaukee for Pitcher Curtis, one of the stars of the American association. While in Indianapolis he was never satisfied and would not do his best.

A new amateur baseball team has been organized in Paducah. The name of the team is F. W. Cooks and will play its initial game tomorrow with the Shamrocks, of the City league. The lineup of the team is as follows: Horace English, c; R. Barnhart, p; Gus Barnett, b; Ed Knight, 2b; C. Council, 3b; Fred English, ss; Dell Edwards, rf; Gordon Emery, cf; Claude English lf.

The Pabsts, a crack amateur team from Cairo, and the Famous, of the Paducah City league, will meet at Wallace park Sunday afternoon.

In common parlance special tax means saloon license. The government has all licenses or special tax stamps to expire on June 30 of each fiscal year, whether they are bought one month or twelve months before that time. This, therefore, means that every saloon license in the United States will expire Friday night of next week at midnight.

Most of the taxpayers will wait until the last two or three days and there will be a big rush.

THE GIFT OF JUNE.

"What has June brought me?" I ask of the roses.
"What has the summer,
With grandeur above her,
Brought me, dear roses?"
They answer, "A lover!"

And in truth he has come
With this month of the flowers;
These days of fresh fragrance
From Dawn's dew-peared bowers

For a year and a day,
He shall be, crimson rose,
And forever and aye."

A Social Whirl.

Paducah has entered on her mid-summer gayety which always bids fair to rival the mid-winter season. This week has seen the beginning, and the coming week promises to be a crowded one, for many entertainments are on hand that are not yet definitely announced. In fact, the general difficulty seems to be finding an unoccupied date.

The presence of many charming visitors in the city is a direct cause of the gayety, together with the home-coming of younger society set from the various colleges and schools. Much of the pleasure of the past week has been made in honor of the house-party at the Gregory country home, which has been a center of social gayety. This party will continue into the coming week.

Pretty Church Wedding Thursday Evening.

The marriage of Miss Clara Moore and Mr. Alpheus Hume Ogilvy will take place on Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Trimble Street Methodist church. Bishop Henry Clay Morrison, of New Orleans, an uncle of the bride, will perform the ceremony. Mrs. Ben J. Billings will play the wedding march.

The bride will wear a pretty creation of white organdy over silk, with a veil. She will enter with her brother Mr. Frank Moore, who will give her away. The best man is Mr. Clarence Milam. The only other attendants are the ushers. Mr. Rob Fairbanks, of Benton, Ill.; Mr. Oscar Hank, Mr. Richard Scott, Mr. Eugene Graves, Mr. Henry Moore and Mr. Robert Morrison.

The couple will go immediately after the ceremony to the groom's country home, Woodland Place, where they will live.

White-Bradshaw Wedding at Athens.

The wedding of Mr. William Francis Bradshaw, Jr., of this city to Miss Rosena Ashton White, of Athens, Ga., is described by the Athens' papers as one of the most beautiful and brilliant social events ever witnessed in that city.

The marriage took place at the First Presbyterian church and the decorations were most effective. Hundreds of pink hydrangeas, ferns and palms were arranged about the altar, and the big auditorium was a blaze of light from the many incandescent lamps, and was crowded with the invited guests in brilliant attire.

Miss Rosena Thomas, a cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor, and wore pink chiffon and carried pink carnations. The matron of honor Mrs. James H. Whitehead, of Waynesboro, was attired in white satin and carried white carnations. The bridesmaids who were charming in white chiffon and pink carnation were: Misses Carrie Walden, Anne B. Phinney, Mary Gerdine, Marie Lustrat, Isabella Thomas, of Athens, Madge Houston, of Augusta, Marie Stevens, of Macon; Ackie White, of Covington, Halle Park, of Greensboro, and Eloise Bradshaw of Paducah, Ky. The groomsmen were Maurice B. Nash, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., Hinton Hopkins, of Birmingham, W. A. Wilkins, of Waynesboro, Jack Hart, Ravaud Benedict, Audley Morton, Joe Morton, Laftimer, Rob White, and J. W. Welch, of Athens. Mr. Louis M. Rieke, Jr., of Paducah, officiated as the best man.

The bride wore a lovely creation of white duchess satin and real lace, with handsome tulip veil, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. She entered with her father, Capt. James White, and was met at the altar by the groom and the best man. Rev. J. W. Walden, D. D., of the Presbyterian church performed the ceremony.

Immediately following the marriage there was a beautiful reception at the elegant White home on Prince avenue. Here the decorations were of exquisite beauty, of the same color-scheme as the church, and charmingly emphasizing the stately beauty of the handsome old ante-bellum home. Especially lovely were the bride's table and the bridesmaids' table. One entire room was devoted to the magnificent presents received. The gift of the bride's parents was a handsome chest of silver, and the entire list was in keeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw left after the reception, over the Seaboard Air Line on a wedding tour in the mountains of Western North Carolina. They will be at home in Paducah after July 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Bradshaw, Sr., of Paducah, father and mother of the groom, were among the out-of-town guests to the wedding.

A Montana Military Wedding.

The Anaconda, (Mont.) Standard gives an elaborate description of the recent wedding of Miss Emily Miriam Marshall, daughter of Col. Thomas C. Marshall, of Missoula, Montant, to Captain Frank Halstead, son of Major Halstead of Cincinnati, Ohio. The wedding took place at the Church of the Holy Spirit, in Missoula, and was a full dress military affair. The church was decorated with flags and guns were stacked at intervals in the aisles as is the custom at military weddings.

The groom, best man, groomsmen and ushers were all army officers, and it made a most imposing spectacle. It was a two-ring ceremony and the ring bearers carried the rings in cuilia, lily cups. The bride wore white silk net over chiffon and over silk, trimmed in much real lace, and carried bride's roses. The bridesmaids wore dresses of blue crepe de chine and wreaths of pink roses. The bride's gifts to her maids were beautiful necklaces of turquoise and the groom presented his groomsmen with gold sword knots.

An elaborate reception followed the wedding ceremony at the home of Col. Marshall. It was exceedingly beautiful and effective in the decorations. The couple went to the Portland Centennial on their bridal trip and will later go to Madison Barracks, N. Y., where the groom has been ordered.

Col. Marshall is well known in Paducah, where he formerly lived, and is a son of the late Judge Charles Marshall, of Paducah. He is a nephew of Mrs. Josephine Ezell of North Fifth street, and a cousin of the Hon. Hal S. Corbett. His daughter and her sister have visited here as children.

Daily Thought.

"If it required no brains, no nerve,

no energy, no work, there would be no glory in achievement."

THE RURAL CORRESPONDENT.

At last a good word has been spoken for the country correspondent. The Owensboro Messenger

says:

When the "country correspondent" writes that "the tire came off

Bill Jones' buggy as he was going to town on Saturday," he does not realize that that item will be read with interest in a distant city, perhaps, by some one who knew "Bill

Jones" when he was a mere youth killing potato bugs on the farm.

It recalls other memories long since forgotten and for a few minutes carries you, seemingly, from the bustle of the city, back to boyhood

—back to the days when you drove over to the station, leaving the old folks standing in the door waving their red bandana handkerchiefs at

you. You boarded the train for the city and upon reaching the metropolis you established yourself for life and became a "man of affairs."

You read in the next issue where

"Jim Smith was around here calling last Sunday. Something 'doin'."

You knew Jim Smith's father, and that, too, recalls pleasant thoughts.

It is with enthusiasm you scan the pages of the next issue of your home paper to see if "Jim Smith" has married.

And yet people ask an editor why he publishes so much "stuff" from the little country towns. Every item written by the country correspondent is of interest to some one.

To those who have not visited their old homes for years it is like a letter.

The Messenger might have added that the correspondent also contributes to the world his own peculiar kind of humor, which often evokes

a smile where all other humor fails.

The rural writer is a very indispensable individual.

There seems to be an effort on part of some of the tobacco growers of Tennessee to dispute the government report about the probable crop this year. Whether it is an effort to make it appear that the crop is going to be smaller than it really is because many of the growers in certain sections have pledged themselves to raise only a certain amount, whether it is in order to keep up the price or simply because it is true, is not plain. One of the reports sent out from Clarksville, however, says:

"A member of the Planters' Association, who has just returned from a trip to Ballard, McCracken, Graves,

and

Caldwell and Trigg counties, Ky., says that only about 30 per cent of the average tobacco crop has been planted in that section. The government report stated that in these counties

there had been a 20 per cent increase in the acreage." The gentleman who made that tour perhaps can't see well, and ought to take another look. Tobacco men in the sections named say that the crop about here will be an average one, possibly a little larger than usual, but certainly not smaller than usual.

A government engineer has exploded the oft-repeated story that the Paducah harbor was being placed in jeopardy by the washing away of the bank at Livingston Point. A few years ago every time a local paper would run shy on news it would print a rehash of the Livingston Point story. An investigation has at last been made and Paducah's harbor is found to be safe, and there is no damage being done at the Point

by the water. The government engineer, had he examined the island opposite the city, would doubtless have ascertained the same thing about the talked-of washing away of the island and the ruining of the harbor here. Paducah's harbors, both commercial and ice, are in good shape and bid fair to remain so.

THE BLOCK SYSTEM HAS BEEN ORDERED

FEATURES OF SUNDAY SERVICES

For the Louisville-Central City District of the I. C.

Work Will Begin at Once—The Improvements Are to Cost About $75,000.

INCREASE OF BUSINESS LARGE

All passenger stations on the Illinois Central railroad between Louisville and Central City will be opened all night within the next two months, following the establishment of a block signal system over the line between the two points. Work on the block system will begin July 1, and about 60 days will be necessary to complete the work of installation. After that time telegraph operators will be placed at all stations and siding points where trains pass. The establishment of the system will cost about $75,000.

The mayor contemplates calling the city supervisors in special session to consider about fifty complaints of erroneous assessment. These complaints should have been filed before the supervisors at their regular sitting, and the right of the mayor to call the supervisors in special session at the expense of the taxpayers, after they have already sat three or four weeks longer than allowed by law, seems to be in doubt.

With the establishment of the night service at the small stations along the line the efforts being made to secure additional postal arrangements on the Illinois Central between Louisville and Central City, promise to be successful.

Establishment of the block signal system between Louisville and Central City has become necessary on account of the increase of business and consequent increase of trains on this division. Freight traffic, especially in the coal line, has nearly doubled during the past year, and the handling of such an increase of trains through a single dispatcher's office under the old system is necessarily slower than under the block system.

The block system is being adopted by many lines in the east and is considered the safest method of handling trains, especially upon tracks used by many trains a day. By this system the division affected is divided into portions called "blocks," in each of which is established a telegraph station. Upon entering a "block" a signal is flashed to the operator in charge, who notifies the dispatcher, and the chief office is thus connected with each train over every foot of track.

The Illinois Central has already established the block system on its road from Central City to Memphis, greatly adding to its facilities. The new move was expected, but this is the first official announcement of it.

For St. Louis on the Excursion This Morning.

An excursion was run to St. Louis via Brookport this morning, leaving the I. C. union depot at 7 o'clock. The train was made up of four coaches and a baggage car, one coach being reserved for negroes. The ticket agent at the depot ran out of tickets before the crowd quit filling in and a number had to be taken to the freight depot where tickets could be procured. A total of 233 tickets was sold out of this city.

Other coaches will be added to the train at Brookport is reached and by the time it arrives in St. Louis will have over a thousand passengers, it is thought. The fare from Paducah for the round trip was $2.

Borax Bill is Dead.

Danville, Ill., June 23.—William Parkinson, the famous frontiersman known as "Borax Bill," driver of the twenty-mule team that attracted attention at the St. Louis exposition, died in an ambulance in this city from the effects of an overdose of morphine taken to relieve pain. Parkinson was found unconscious in his room at the Aetna hotel and was placed in an ambulance to be taken to the hospital. He came to Danville with the mule team last Wednesday and was left here on account of illness. "Borax Bill" took the first borax out of Death valley. He leaves relatives in California.

The principal case in police court this morning was that against J. S. Bordeaux, charged with acting as agent for the Home Purchasing Co. without a state license.

The case of breach of the peace against City Jailer Tom Evitts was not tried this morning on account of Officer Wm. Beadles' condition. Jailer Evitts is alleged to have struck Officer Beadles near Thirteenth and Clay streets with his fist. Officer Beadles was injured about the face and head but came to the station this morning and later became too ill to remain and had to go home.

BELT ROAD.

Will Probably Be Built Out of Marion, Ky.

A party of capitalists from Pennsylvania and Indiana were at Marion, Ky., a few days ago, in charge of Capt. Haase looking over this and the Salem district with a view of building a belt line railroad from Mexico by way of Salem and Crittenden Springs to Marion. After making a careful examination of the district they left highly pleased with the prospects for a good tonnage from the time the road can be completed and placed in operation. There is a quiet movement on foot for the building of such a belt line road and will probably develop soon into something more realistic and substantial.

The Adventure of the Norwood Builder

No. 2 of the Series

"The case has certainly some points of interest," said he in his languid fashion. "May I ask, in the first place, Mr. McFarlane, how it is that you are still at liberty, since there appears to be enough evidence to justify your arrest?"

"I live at Torrington Lodge, Blackheath, with my parents, Mr. Holmes, but last night, having to do business very late with Mr. Jonas Oldacre, I stayed at a hotel in Norwood and came to my business from there. I knew nothing of this affair until I was in the train, when I read what you have just heard. I at once saw the horrible danger of my position, and I hurried to put the case into your hands. I have no doubt that I should have been arrested either at my city office or at my home. A man followed me from London Bridge station, and I have no doubt—Great heaven! What is that?"

It was a clang of the bell, followed instantly by heavy steps upon the stairs. A moment later our old friend Lestrade appeared in the doorway. Over his shoulder I caught a glimpse of one or two uniformed policemen outside.

"Mr. John Hector McFarlane?" said Lestrade.

Our unfortunate client rose, with a gashly face.

"I am the willful murderer of Mr. Jonas Oldacre of Lower Norwood."

McFarlane wiped his damp brow and then continued his narrative:

"I was shown by this woman into a sitting room, where a frugal supper was laid out. Afterward Mr. Jonas Oldacre led me into his bedroom, in which there stood a heavy safe. This he opened and took out a mass of documents, which we went over together. It was between 11 and 12 when we finished. He remarked that we must not disturb the housekeeper. He showed me out through his own French window, which had been open all this time."

"I think there will be no difficulty in clearing it up," said Lestrade grimly.

"None the less, with your permission, I should be much interested to hear his account."

"Well, Mr. Holmes, it is difficult for me to refuse you anything, for you have been of use to the force once or twice in the past, and we owe you a good turn at Scotland Yard," said Lestrade. "At the same time I must remain with my prisoner, and I am bound to warn him that anything he may say will appear in evidence against him."

"I wish nothing better," said our client. "All I ask is that you should hear and recognize the absolute truth."

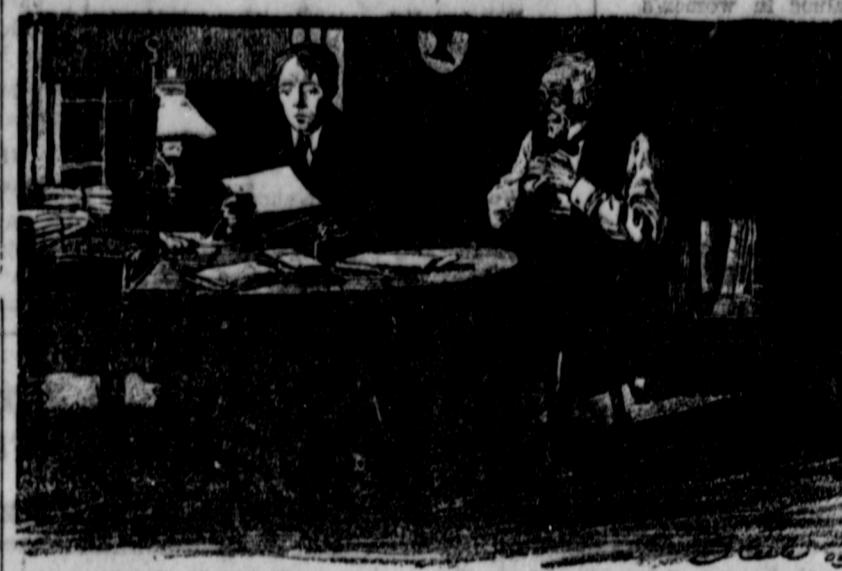

Lestrade looked at his watch. "I'll give you half an hour," said he.

"I must explain first," said McFarlane, "that I knew nothing of Mr. Jonas Oldacre. His name was familiar to me, for many years ago my parents were acquainted with him, but they drifted apart. I was very much surprised, therefore, when yesterday about 3 o'clock in the afternoon he walked into my office in the city. But I was still more astonished when he told me the object of his visit. He had in his hand several sheets of a notebook, covered with scribbled writing—here they are—and he laid them on my table.

"Not until I have been to Blackheath."

"You mean to Norwood," said Lestrade.

"Oh, yes; no doubt that is what I must have meant," said Holmes, with his enigmatic smile. Lestrade had learned by more experience than he would care to acknowledge that that ness on hand and that it was impossible for me to say how late I might be. Mr. Oldacre had told me that he would like me to have supper with him at 9, as he might not be home before that hour. I had some difficulty in finding his house, however, and it was nearly half past before I reached it. I found him—

"One moment," said Holmes. "Who opened the door?"

"A middle aged woman, who was, I suppose, his housekeeper."

"And it was she, I presume, who mentioned your name?"

"Exactly," said McFarlane.

"Pray proceed."

McFarlane wiped his damp brow and then continued his narrative:

"I was shown by this woman into a sitting room, where a frugal supper was laid out. Afterward Mr. Jonas Oldacre led me into his bedroom, in which there stood a heavy safe. This he opened and took out a mass of documents, which we went over together. It was between 11 and 12 when we finished. He remarked that we must not disturb the housekeeper. He showed me out through his own French window, which had been open all this time."

"Was the blind down?" asked Holmes.

"I will not be sure, but I believe that it was only half down. Yes, I remember how he pulled it up in order to swing open the window. I could not find my stick, and he said, 'Never mind, my boy, I shall see a good deal of you now, I hope, and I will keep you stuck until you come back to claim it.' I left him there, the safe open and the papers made up in packets upon the table. It was so late that I could not get back to Blackheath, so I spent the night at the Aneley Arms, and I knew nothing more until I read of this horrible affair in the morning."

"Anything more that you would like to ask, Mr. Holmes?" said Lestrade, whose eyebrows had gone up once or twice during this remarkable explanation.

"Not until I have been to Blackheath."

"You mean to Norwood," said Lestrade.

"Oh, yes; no doubt that is what I must have meant," said Holmes, with his enigmatic smile. Lestrade had learned by more experience than he would care to acknowledge that that

The will was duly finished, signed and witnessed by my clerk. This is it on the blue paper, and these slips, as I have explained, are the rough draft. Mr. Jonas Oldacre then informed me that there were a number of documents—building leases, title deeds, mortgages, etc., and so forth—which it was necessary that I should see and understand. He said that his mind would not be easy until the whole thing was settled, and he begged me to come out to his house at Norwood that night, bringing the will with me, and to arrange matters. Remember, my boy, not one word to your parents about the affair until everything is settled. We will keep it as a little surprise for them. He was very insistent upon this point and made me promise it faithfully.

You can imagine Mr. Holmes, that I was not in a humor to refuse him anything that he might ask. He was my benefactor, and all my desire was to carry out his wishes in every particular. I sent a telegram home, therefore, to say that I had important business which was impenetrable to him. I saw him look curiously at my companion.

"I think I should like to have a word with you presently, Mr. Sherlock Holmes," said he. "Now, Mr. McFarlane, two of my constables are at the door, and there is a four wheeler waiting." The wretched young man arose and with a last beseeching glance at us walked from the room. The officers conducted him to the cab, but Lestrade remained.

Holmes had picked up the pages which formed the rough draft of the will and was looking at them with the keenest interest upon his face.

"There are some points about that document, Lestrade, are there not?"

Aged Woman Dies.

Murray, Ky., June 24.—Mrs. Rebecca P. Pool, one of the oldest and most highly respected women of this county, died at her home in this city. She was ninety years old, and leaves sixty to seventy-five grandchildren, great-grand-children and great-great-grand-children.

Changes Wanted by Lawyers.

Covington, Ky., June 24.—At the second and closing day's session of the Kentucky Bar association S. D. Rouse, chairman of the committee on Law and Reform, read a paper suggesting three important changes in the existing statutes of Kentucky. It is proposed that in all controversies over mutual property husband and wife should be allowed to testify against one another and against third parties. A change in the state jury was also suggested, allowing that twenty-four grand juries be chosen instead of twenty, as the law requires at present. The third important suggestion was that all decisions of the court of appeals be published. An animated discussion followed on all these points.

Stock Ordinance Repealed.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 24.—The city council, in called session, repeated the stock ordinance passed June 2. Councilman J. B. Jackson, by whose vote the law was passed, changed front and voted to repeal it.

Prominent Man Stricken.

Henderson, Ky., June 24.—Dr. W. M. Hanna, one of the most prominent physicians in the state, was stricken with apoplexy at his office in the Ohio Valley Bank building. His entire right side was paralyzed and his condition is grave.

A Remarkable Escape.

Marion, Ky., June 24.—At the Senator mine in Caldwell county, Coy Weakes, a one-armed man about twenty years old, accidentally fell from the top to the bottom of the 78 foot shaft, but happening to fall upon a workman at the bottom of the shaft, strange to narrate, he not only was not seriously hurt himself, no bones being broken, but the workman struck was not more than bruised a little, and was able to go right on to work. Young Weakes was not employed at the mine, and was merely standing around.

Distiller Is Insane.

Owensboro, Ky., June 24.—M. V. Monarch, formerly one of the leading business men of Owensboro, was declared insane in the circuit court and a guardian ad litem appointed to look after his interests in a suit brought by the Columbus Finance and Trust company, of Louisville, to which he is a party defendant. He was one of the owners of the Monarch Distilleries which were involved in a large assignment a few years ago.

His mind has been thought to be unbalanced for sometime.

Woman Has Hydrophobia.

Owensboro, Ky., June 24.—Mrs. Will Reynolds, of this county, has a genuine case of hydrophobia. The symptoms of the disease were first noticed several days ago, although it is thought that she has had the disease for several months. The attacks come about four hours apart and are manifested by frothing at the mouth. About a year ago Mrs. Reynolds had a pet dog which developed hydrophobia and she nursed it during all the stages of the disease. The dog did not bite her and it is supposed that the disease came from getting the poison in some slight abrasion of the skin.

Trouble in Breathitt.

Jackson, Ky., June 24.—During a circus near town Jake Noble, while drinking, became disorderly, it is charged, and when a deputy sheriff tried to arrest him drew his pistol.

His brothers, John and Elisha, however, came to the rescue of the officer, and attempted to get Jake put up his weapon. This the latter declined to do, and when Hiram Centers and several other deputies came up with drawn pistols, demanding his surrender, he backed into a crowd of his friends, who agreed to take him away from the scene after objecting strenuously to any attempts to place him under arrest.

Later in the day Jake Noble and his brothers, John, Elisha and Green, were placed in jail on the charge of disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer.
